

Position Title: Summer Intern-Bazelon Center for Mental Health Law, Washington, DC

Job Description: The Bazelon Center is a private, nonprofit legal advocacy organization that promotes and protects the rights of adults and children with mental disabilities by bringing cutting edge litigation and shaping federal policy. Bazelon's litigation staff work on U.S. Supreme Court and other federal and state appellate cases, bring impact litigation at the trial court level, work with state-based and national advocacy organizations, and provide technical assistance on the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) and other laws that address the rights of people with mental illnesses. The Center is considered an expert in system reform litigation. The Bazelon Center's litigation staff includes seven attorneys.

Summer interns draft documents and conduct legal and other research in support of Bazelon's litigation and technical assistance efforts. Recent examples of intern projects include: preparing part of a brief supporting a unique and far-reaching settlement that will reform Arizona's mental health system for children, identifying and analyzing cases addressing the constitutionality of Title II of the ADA, researching state obligations to arrange for the continuation of SSI and Medicaid benefits for individuals being discharged from jail, and researching potential claims for a suit challenging inadequate special education services for children and youth who have serious emotional and behavioral problems. The Bazelon Center also accepts interns/externs during the academic year.

Interns normally spend 10 weeks at the Center, starting sometime between mid-May and mid-June. Some interns have split their summers between a firm and the Center. Interns typically receive summer stipends from their law school or their school's Equal Justice Works chapter. Sometimes the Center receives grants that allow us to pay interns for summer work if the intern has already exhausted other funding sources.

The Bazelon Center has been very successful in securing prestigious post-law school fellowships. The Center has had three Skadden and two Equal Justice (formerly NAPIL) fellows. Former Bazelon interns have also received fellowships to work at other public interest organizations.

We seek applications by law students (with a preference for those in the second or third year) who have excellent academic credentials and strong research and writing skills. Related experience is a plus. In your cover letter, please indicate why you want to work at the Bazelon Center and what particular aspects of our work interest you the most. To apply for a summer internship, please send by e-mail, fax, or regular mail a cover letter, resume, writing sample, law school transcript (unofficial is ok), and list of three references to:

HABEAS CORPUS RESOURCE CENTER 2009-2010 LEGAL EXTERNSHIP PROGRAM and

2010 SUMMER LAW STUDENT INTERNSHIP PROGRAM

The Habeas Corpus Resource Center (HCRC), a judicial branch entity, provides an exciting opportunity for law students interested in indigent capital defense. The HCRC provides direct legal representation to death row inmates in post-conviction proceedings in state and federal courts. In addition, the HCRC acts as a resource center to outside counsel for the defense of death row defendants. Additional information about the HCRC can be found on our website at www.hcrc.ca.gov.

POSITION AND QUALIFICATIONS

EXTERNSHIP:

Externs will assist case teams in all facets of the representation of death row inmates in post-conviction proceedings. Knowledge of substantive and procedural legal principles of criminal and constitutional law, provisions of the United States and California Constitutions, and the rules of evidence and conduct of proceedings in California courts is preferred but not required.

Externs are not considered employees of the judicial branch, and these are unpaid positions. For students interested in obtaining clinical credits from their law school, the HCRC will work with the student and the school in an effort to meet the school's requirements. Start and end dates for the externship are flexible, as are the number of hours and days worked per week.

SUMMER 2010 LAW STUDENT INTERNSHIP:

Legal interns will assist case teams in various facets of the representation of death row inmates in post-conviction proceedings. Interns work on a variety of projects that fall into three general areas: (1) legal research and writing; (2) non-legal research; (3) and factual development of legal claims. Knowledge of substantive and procedural legal principles of criminal and constitutional law, criminal procedure, provisions of the United States and California Constitutions, and the rules of evidence and conduct of proceedings in California courts is preferred but not required.

We expect that a limited number of paid and unpaid internship positions will be available for the summer of 2010.

APPLICATION PROCESS

Applicants are encouraged to apply via e-mail by sending a cover letter, resume, and short writing sample to LawStudents@hcr.ca.gov. Applications by mail (303 Second Street, Suite 400 South, San Francisco, CA 94107) or fax 415-348-3873 (to the attention of the legal intern selection committee) are acceptable as well. PLEASE SPECIFY EXTERNSHIP or SUMMER INTERN program.

Summer Legal Internship - School-To-Prison Reform Project

Position Information

Employer: Southern Poverty Law Center (Montgomery, AL)

Division: N/A

Title: Summer Legal Internship - School-To-Prison Reform Project

Description: The New Orleans office of the Southern Poverty Law Center offers summer internships to exceptional second-year law students who possess strong academic backgrounds, excellent research and writing skills, and a commitment to public interest law. Our goal is to stem the flow of the School-to-Prison Pipeline by using federal special education law to get supports and services for children with emotional and behavioral disabilities. Our strategies include litigation, training, and public policy advocacy. For more information, visit our website at <http://www.splcenter.org/legal/schoolhouse.jsp>.

The interns assist the Centers attorneys and other staff with legal and public policy research, writing, field/facility investigations, discovery, and case preparation.

Interns receive $700.00 per week. Start dates are somewhat flexible, but interns are expected to begin sometime in early June 2010. A minimum commitment of ten weeks is desirable.

To apply, please submit a cover letter, resume, transcript, a writing sample (no longer than 15 pages), and the names and phone numbers of two references by October 31, 2009, to lea.stevenson@splcenter.org.
