

NATIONAL LABOR RELATIONS BOARD

Region 15 in New Orleans, LA has a vacancy for one Summer Legal Intern

Summer Legal Intern:

- Interview parties regarding charges of unfair labor practices
- Investigate matters underlying the charges
- Assists in litigating cases before administrative law judges
- Assists in seeking injunctions in Federal district courts
- Assists in conducting hearings to determine appropriate collective bargaining units
- Oversee secret-ballot elections
- Assists Hearing Officers
- Draft decisions on behalf of the Board
- Respond to inquiries from the public

Each assignment is an opportunity to make a difference.

You will need to be energetic, resourceful and diplomatic — gathering valuable facts and evidence — and make sound recommendations on disposition of cases that inspire confidence in your objectivity. Cases may require you to visit the homes, offices, and workplaces of people involved. Your job as a legal intern might take you around the corner, or to locations throughout Region 15's jurisdiction - in Louisiana, southern Mississippi, southern Alabama and the panhandle of Florida.

For additional information, please go to our website - NLRB.gov

As a summer legal intern you should expect to be hired as a GS 5 (rising 2Ls) or GS 7(rising 3Ls). ($27,431 - $ 44,176 /year)

Qualifications:

Applicants must be attending an accredited law school.

Educational background and work experience will also be evaluated. Background in labor law or labor management relations is not required but will be helpful.

Additionally, Region 15 is actively seeking bilingual applicants. Bilingual skills may be a factor in selecting the candidate.

The National Labor Relations Board is an Equal Opportunity Employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for appointment without regard to race, religion, national origin, color, sex, political affiliation, handicap, age, sexual orientation, or any other non-merit factor.

Interested applicants should forward for consideration an electronic copy of their current resumes and law school transcripts by March 17, 2010, to the attention of:

National Tribal Court Clerkship Program, Summer 2010

"The University of Colorado Law School is pleased to announce the National Tribal Court Clerkship Program for the Summer 2010. Law clerks have aided federal and state judges for more than a century by providing legal and administrative assistance. Very few tribal judges, however, have enjoyed the benefit of a law clerk's services. Through the National Tribal Court Law Clerk Program, we hope this will change. Tribal Court judges need assistance over the summer with substantive legal research and writing, and the goal of this program is to send law students from around the country to these courts for summer clerkships.

Although the positions are unpaid, students will be able to earn academic credit subject to meeting the requirements set forth by the student's law schools.

Tribal Court clerkships and internship postings will be listed on the website http://lawweb.colorado.edu/ilc\_clerkships/ for students to access. More may be added in the spring, so check back periodically. Students should apply to judges and courts directly pursuant the job posting's instructions, and not through CU Law School or the website itself."
